OVERVIEW

Future Leaders Model United Nations is an extraordinary event that intends to bring enthusiastic young leaders from all around the globe together and provide them with a platform to exchange and present views regarding the troubles and problems plaguing the present world. Now in its second year, FLMUN has become an ideal place to grasp and grip the personality building skills needed to become a better speaker and diplomat. One cannot deny the importance of having soft skills in an individual for making it big in this modern era.

FLMUN will present you with the opportunity to connect with like-minded people who aspire to play their part in changing the world. Young leaders who dream to become the leaders of tomorrow will greatly benefit from this event in that it will help them to learn about diplomacy, negotiation, and global politics and how this planet could be saved from threatening problems by working together and aiding those who have committed themselves to important causes.

OUR OBJECTIVES

- ▶ To induce the spirit and provide knowledge about United Nations sessions
- ▶ To inform about and hone the skills needed for personal and professional development
- ▶ To facilitate the implementation of ideas of social action presented by enthusiastic individuals

- ▶ To develop and promote a network of young leaders in support of a sustainable world
- ▶ To introduce new cultures to delegates and provide support for collaboration
- ▶ To equip the minds with useful knowledge of the modern world so that they can be more socially aware

UNITED NATIONS SIMULATION SESSIONS

MODERATED CAUCUS:

- ▶ This type of debate is like a formal meeting. Delegates discourse on a sub-topic of the main agenda at the appropriate time. The purpose is to find out the root causes, solutions and present the consequences.

LOBBYING & BLOC FORMATION:

- ▶ Delegates use their leadership, negotiation, and diplomatic skills to persuade the representatives of different countries on the agenda given by the council. Blocs are formed by the delegates based on foreign relations, geographical locations, and national interests.

CRAFTING RESOLUTIONS:

- ▶ Preparing resolutions is an important part of the MUN experience. Delegates move towards consequences with a solution-oriented mindset and perform critical analysis. They drive the working paper (in-formal copy of resolution), followed by presentations to the floor after which they further debate and make amendments if needed. By the end of this process, comprehensive draft resolutions are crafted.

ROLL CALL VOTING:

- ▶ All member states or delegates have the right to Vote if they want to start the session or conclude it. Whether it's proposing any topic or debate on the related issues, introducing the amendments, or passing the resolution; all require the roll call voting. However, there are other voting areas as well that can be vetoed.
