2021 was a challenging but highly scientifically productive year for members of the Faculty of Tourism and Hospitality Management (FTHM). The basic activity of the Faculty relates to scientific research in the field of tourism, hospitality and sustainable development. The Faculty promotes excellence and conducts all activities in accordance with the principles of ethics and social responsibility.

This document contains a list of the scientific activities of faculty members and researchers in 2021. In addition to the research output of the seven Faculty Institutes and the profiles of their researchers, information on conferences attended, members of editorial boards, and peer reviews conducted is also included. Special attention is given to the Faculty's scientific journal, Tourism and Hospitality Management, the 6th International Conference Tourism in Southern and Eastern Europe - ToSEE 2021, and 21 scientific projects carried out in 2021.

The scientific productivity of the Faculty of Tourism and Hospitality Management resulted in a total of three published books, seven book chapters, and one hundred and eighteen scientific articles in 2021. This represents an increase in quantity (23% more scientific articles were published in 2021 than in the previous year) and, more importantly, in the quality of publications. In 2021, members of FTHM published 51 articles in WoS/Scopus-indexed journals (an increase of 46% compared with 2020), of which 6 articles were published in Q1 journals. In addition, researchers were involved 21 scientific projects led by members of FTHM in 2021 (a 91% increase in the number of active scientific projects compared to 2020).

Faculty members have participated in numerous international conferences and authored reviews for high-impact journals. Many faculty researchers are editors or members of the editorial boards of international journals.

Faculty researchers explore various research concepts in tourism, hospitality and management as members of seven institutes.

Research activities focus on various current concepts and issues, including the green and circular economy, the creative economy, and the digital economy. Researchers also explore the potential and impact of smart destination development and the digital transformation of tourism and hospitality. They study the impact and importance of implementing smart technologies (e.g., virtual reality, artificial intelligence, digital marketing and communications, and others).

Considering various aspects, many researchers study different types of special interest tourism and tourists' behaviour, perceptions, experiences, and future intentions. Special attention is also paid to competitiveness, local development, entrepreneurship, business excellence, TQM, and human resource management. Researchers examine many issues facing destinations, economies, organisations and various other stakeholders today, with sustainability in all its aspects on their research agenda.

We are looking forward to new experiences, scientific projects, opportunities and partnerships that will produce high quality scientific results.

The Institute for Tourism builds its academic research and teaching on the tradition of developing and training experts in the needs of tourism, both at the micro and macro levels. Guided by the principles of excellence, the Institute strives to address the complex needs of the tourism system through courses in all areas of study.

The research results, especially in the field of destination marketing and management, encourage the Institute to remain at the forefront of these research areas, which are irreplaceable when it comes to providing a response to modern movements in tourism demand.

The research interests of the members of the Department of Tourism include destination management, crisis management, sustainable development, tourism planning, tourism economics, tourism impacts, SMART destinations, diversity of specific interest tourism, tourism experience and behaviour, quality of life and well-being; value co-creation, security and many other challenges of future tourism.

In the Department of Marketing, researchers focus on the application of sustainability in marketing and destination competitiveness, ethics and social responsibility, online marketing, consumer behaviour, UGC (user-generated content) in targeted advertising, branding, collaboration, and integrated marketing communication in tourism and hospitality.

The active and collaborative partnership of the Faculty with various stakeholders at the local, regional, national and international levels provides the basis for the acquisition and transfer of knowledge and for the practical application of their scientific findings. Today, more than ever, the tourism market is looking for highly educated people with new and innovative practical knowledge, ready to respond the challenges of the modern business world, and able to assume responsibilities in leadership positions in tourism. Therefore, in accordance with the needs of stakeholders and the dynamics of tourism development, the activities of the Institute are aimed at educating students to become creative, innovative and critical individuals capable of analysis, management, marketing research and practical work in tourism and tourism-related activities.

The goal of the Institute of Tourism is to continuously improve the quality of research and teaching and to develop a personalised learning approach to improve the generic and practical skills of students. The Institute has 16 members who develop their teaching and scientific research capacity through external and internal training and participation in numerous interdisciplinary research and development projects.

The Institute for Hospitality focuses on scientific research with the goal of linking its findings to educational materials in the areas of business economics, organization, and management. The members of the Institute of Hospitality focus on the development and application of the latest knowledge on the development of the profession, on the transfer of knowledge to students and professionals. During their studies, students acquire knowledge, skills and competences in the field of hospitality through theoretical and practical teaching.

Members of the Institute actively participate in scientific projects, as project leaders or members of research teams. They present the results of their research at international and national conferences and publish them in scientific journals and conference proceedings. Future research of the Institute members is based on entrepreneurial management in tourism and hospitality, strategic management in hotel companies, economics of hospitality companies, gastronomy and restaurant business management, food and beverage management, standards in hospitality, hotel operations, organization of hospitality services, organizational behaviour, education in tourism and hospitality, CRM, guest experience, guest relations, employee relations, enogastronomy and many other topic related to hospitality and tourism.

Hospitality, Gastronomy and Restaurant Business department combines two important areas:

- Hospitality – analyzing global trends in the turbulent, dynamic market of the 21st century. Special interest is given to increasing quality and competitiveness from the perspective of entrepreneurship and management of the hotel sector.
- Gastronomy and restaurant business – by following modern trends in this field, the focus is on the design of the food and beverage offer in response to the needs and demands of the tourism market.

Looking at the curricula of the courses and the name of the Faculty, the Department of Hospitality, Gastronomy and Restaurant Business as part of the Institute for Hospitality, represents one of the most important departments of the Faculty. In addition, the department promotes one of the fundamental activities of the Faculty, which is directly related to the tourism and hospitality industry, through collaboration with other institutions, companies, associations, municipalities and unions. Programs for lifelong learning are also developed within the Department. A lifelong learning program “Food and Beverage Specialist” is an example of good practice and has been running for more than 10 years. In addition, three new lifelong learning programs are in preparation: Sommelier Specialist, Barista Specialist and Bartender Specialist.

The Department of Work Organization in Hospitality pays special attention to studies related to hospitality work organization. Members of the department strive to prepare students to recognize organizational problems under changing conditions and, as future managers, to be able to enforce effective work organization activities in the hospitality industry. The department focuses on the significant area of work organization in the hospitality industry, which is the focus of many courses taught by the Faculty of Tourism and Hospitality Management.

The members of the Institute for National and International Economics research current trends in national and international markets with the aim of profiling competitive advantages and achieving growth and development in the context of globalised changes and challenges.

The Institute is actively involved in all faculty activities. Its main activities are related to teaching, scientific and professional activities of its members. Members of the Institute publish scientific and professional papers, participate in scientific and professional conferences in the country and abroad, and apply their scientific research in various scientific projects. In addition, the members of the Institute actively participate in the professional and European projects of the Faculty.

The Department of International Economics and Development actively scientifically examines global economic challenges with special attention to their impact on the development of the Croatian economy in general, as well as on the development of Croatian tourism.

The Department of Micro and Macroeconomics synergistically combines two key areas of interest – international economics and sustainable development. The research results of the members of the Department should contribute to Croatia's qualitative response to the dynamics of the international economy in order to achieve development.

The Department of International Economic Investment combines two important areas such as international finance and international investment management. Members analyse global trends in international finance in a turbulent, dynamic financial market. Of particular interest are Croatia's relations with international financial institutions and investments in developing countries, especially investments in tourism.

The Institute for Accounting has two main objectives. The first is to provide students with a high quality education in various accounting subjects to enable them to pursue their careers in leadership positions in the tourism and hospitality industry. The second is to strive for excellence in research and to make international contributions to the body of knowledge in accounting.

Within the Institute for Accounting, we offer a range of courses at all levels of study: Undergraduate (Accounting, Management Accounting, Accounting for SMEs, Revenue Management, Responsibility Accounting and Environmental Accounting), Postgraduate (Cost Management, Strategic Accounting and Hospitality Auditing), Postgraduate doctoral (Modern Accounting Systems, Accounting Concepts and Reporting Systems in Hospitality Industry and Environmental Accounting).

All courses offered are applied to the specifics of the tourism and hospitality industry and use the latest edition of the Uniform System from Accounts for the Lodging Industry (USALI). We constantly adapt the courses to new developments in the industry and study standards by using the latest literature and various software solutions, the case study method and guest lecturers from the industry. Great emphasis is placed on the practical application of the knowledge acquired by the students. We try to develop and practice the essential skills needed in the business world such as analytical and critical thinking, problem solving, operational and strategic decision making and teamwork.

Our research topics cover both financial and management accounting and focus mainly on tourism and hospitality industry issues. We regularly follow new trends in accounting research and adapt them for accounting research in the service industry, i.e. tourism and hospitality. In addition, we constantly keep abreast of the latest qualitative and quantitative research methods in the accounting field and try to incorporate them into our own research to ensure the advancement of research practices in our field.

Specifically, we are currently exploring new topics in the following areas:

- Financial reporting in the hospitality industry
- Accounting policies
- Accounting information for business decision making
- Financial reporting standards
- Hotel internal auditing
- Internal reporting and benchmarking in the hospitality industry
- Factors affecting performance in the hospitality industry
- Sustainability accounting
- Sustainability reporting
- Integrated reporting
- Social performance measurement
- Environmental performance measurement

The members of the Institute teach, conduct research and engage in professional activities in order to contribute to the strategy and goals of the Faculty of Tourism and Hospitality Management and the University of Rijeka.
